Summary:

Pali Mountain Retreat and Conference Center is a full-service retreat destination that offers comfortable accommodations, dozens of activities and breathtaking mountain scenery.

Los Angeles Family magazine’s first winner in its new “Best Family Location” is Pali Mountain and Chef Don Fullmer. The award recognizes the quality and nutrition of the hundreds of meals that Pali Mountain Retreat and Conference Center prepares for retreat guests. Chef Fullmer has a complete culinary background with exposure to many cuisines including; sushi, Asian, Mexican, Hawaiian, Italian, and American. These culinary influences inspire the varied menu choices that are found at Pali Mountain.

The magazine’s editors were impressed by the quality of the food and breadth of choices, ranging from a gourmet salad bar to grilled pepper steaks. Chef Fullmer and his staff also provide personalized service, and are happy to accommodate special dietary requests. For example, a vegetarian entrée option is always available for guests. For dessert, guests are treated to freshly baked cobblers, cakes, and a wide assortment of pies.

Approved Quotes:

- “I’m honored to accept this award on behalf of my expert culinary staff at Pali Mountain. Our guests are very active up here. When they finish all of their various activities, they’re hungry. My job is to create food I would want to eat.” – Quote attributable to Don Fullmer, Executive Chef for Pali Mountain Retreat and Conference Center

- “We are very pleased to be recognized for the quality of our food. We strive to provide our guests with a complete retreat experience that exceeds expectations. People are happier if they eat well, and Chef Fullmer has done a fantastic job preparing a varied menu of delicious and nutritious foods.” - Quote attributable to Andy Wexler, President & Founder of Pali Mountain Retreat and Conference Center.
